Reinvest in your classroom systems by reminding your students (and yourself!) why they matter.

EXAMPLE: Caitlin Reilly's Class

Technique: TRACKING

Caitlin singles out one of the raised hands. She instructs the rest of the class to track the student.

PROBLEM

Not all of the students are tracking along with Caitlin, showing that not everyone in the class is present in the lesson.

REINVEST

SOLUTION

Caitlin gives her students the rationale for trying TRACK again and doing it better. She "reinvests with purpose, not power."

IMPACT

Caitlin's students turn their bodies to show they're tracking and listening to what their classmate has to say. They are invested in doing it better, and they do.

Be clear and fast! Quickly re-frame the situation and try again!
